The wife of Washington Irving Bishop, the so-called mind reader, has brought action for a divorce and makes a statement through the columns of the Boston Globe that rivals the Colin-Camp bell soundal in its disgusting details. The increasing tendency of the press of to-day toward the publication of every filthy scandal that can be raked out of the cess pool of moral depravity is positively alarming Instead of public educators the great newspapers are becoming public nuisances as they cater directly to the There very it west passions of mankind is no excuse for this sort of thing, because no public interest is advanced thereby, while on the other hand a great injury inflicted upon society by creating a morbid ing. Just now there seem: to be a mad race among some of our eading contem pararies to see which can overreach the other in this scavenger brainess

The recent railroad acc dent on the Providénce road recalls other serious accidents where there has been a large loss of life. On the 17th of July, 1856, came the calamity at Campbell Station, rear Philadelphia, to an excursion train carying 1100 chitdren The derailed cars caught fire, and sixty-six persons, mostly little children, perished in the flames. | fly a collision on the Hudson Railroad, Feb. 6, 1862, twentyone persons were killed. The telescopin of a train on the Eastern railroad at Re vere, Aug. 26, 1871, with its terrible loss of life, is still fresh in the recollection of many of our readers, as it also the Wholaston calamity of Oct. 8, 1878. One of the most appaling accidents on record was that on the Grand Trunk road, in which a whole train plunged into the Richellen river on the hight of June 29, 1884. Edward Lang, chief, car inspector, who has worked with the company since 1847 and held his present position since 1853, was the first vitness. He said: the cars on the Dedham branch were inspected by two of my men every trip at Boston. by two of my men every trip at Boston. They do this every time and examine the cars underneath and outside. There is a third man who goet through laside of the cars. They examine all wheels and look for loose buts. The Phenix Courgany follows that plan. No inspection of the Bussey Bridge was made on behalf of the company that he knew of. He (Mr. Hawes) inspected it as much as any bridge that was built was inspected. The hangers were in such position that they could be only partially examined. He considered it a correct form of construction. He supposed all builders exposed all parts of a bridge that they could where it was necessary. The people to whom it is directed are addressed at the opening as "Brochers." The address says: "From the daya of the crusade in 1874 until this day we have been in the habit of pleading with you, personally and by letter and address, to give up the business of making and selling intoxicating liquors as a drink, and to your credit be it said that in the vast majority of instances you have treated us not only with politeness but with kindness. In our great and successful campaigns for prohibition, for none of them have failed, since even in Ohlo, though we had not a constitutional majority with ad over 300,000 votes for prohibition to less than 100,000 for literase, and in Kansas, lowa, Maine and Rhode Island we gained the amendment.)

In all These Campaigns we appeal to you to say, if we have ever manifested a spirit of harshness or bravado. On the contrary we have spoken considerately of you as men, reserving our demunication for the business which you are engaged, for the laws which legal status is accorded to the business, for legislatures which enact such laws and for voters who are the power behind this throne of injustive and shame. In almost every State and Territory we have sent out our appeal to the Legislature for protection from this curse and though often greviously disappointed our plea has not altogether been in vain. For thirteen years we have petitioned Congress and at last secured in the Scientific Temperance Education bill the first general emperance while our pitiful cry to the voters of the Nution has been responded to by local option laws and iconstitutional amendoption laws and constitutional amend-ments, covering nearly half the inhabited area of the Republic. But we have never, until now, come with the united voices of the White Ribbon women to that small fruction of men who make and sell poisonbus drinks, against which we are fighting, drinks; that nerve with dangerous strength, drinks) that herve with dangerous strength, arms already so much stronger than our own, and at the same time so steal away the brain that ought to guide these manly arms that they ard no longer woman's shelter and protection, but her worst enemy. We bring our plea, then, straight to the source of woman's direct calamity and sorrow, and lay it at your feet."
